

Deb Halpern Wenger

Associate Professor of Convergence & New Media
Virginia Commonwealth University

1. Where did you do your Educator in the Newsroom Fellowship?

KPNX, Phoenix, AZ

2. What is the most important thing you learned from your Fellowship?

I learned that the concept of cross-platform convergence had really morphed into “working with the Web.” No longer does the idea of having TV stations, newspapers and online sites partnering to create multimedia journalism seem practical. Instead, broadcast news outlets need to find ways to add immediacy and depth to their own Web sites, and that means changing the priority they give online content and learning to work differently on a daily basis.